APARTMENT COMPLEX may become housing for the elderly. The town is negotiating to purchase this apartment structure on Post Office Avenue as additional accommodations for the senior citizens. Theodore Meinelt, chairman of the Andover Housing Authority says the state engineer and appraiser have already inspected the building which has 25 apartments. The AHA has 39 applications for elderly housing.

Academy To Mark 'February Week'

Regularly scheduled classes at Phillips Academy will be suspended next week, beginning Monday, to allow students to take part in an experimental program called February Week.

Instead of formal studies, more than 850 students will engage in individual projects, both on and off campus, as well as attend accelerated courses in special subjects.

The range of activities will include such recreational programs as skiing and such group seminars as seeking a development of a personal philosophy about God.

One group will build an art studio for the Audio-Visual department, others will work at the Lawrence Experimental Station which tests water and air pollution for the state and one will help write a report for the Lawrence Area Board on Rehabilitation of the Mentally Ill.

One group will go to Washington to observe Congress, with special attention to listening to committee hearings; others will attend local school committee meetings or observe Massachusetts courts in action. And one group will go to Cape Cod to retrace David Thoreau's walk there more than a century ago.

The program is designed to afford a break in formal routines during the winter term through offering outlets of energy in fields of the students' own choosing.

Andover Expert Advises Indians

Dr. Lawrence S. Spiegel, 76 Holt Road, recently returned from a visit to an Indian Reservation in northern Idaho. The Nez Perce Tribe, famous for its role in the Lewis - Clark expeditions, requested assistance for establishing an industrial program on the Lapwai Reservation.

As an agricultural and industrial development specialist, Dr. Spiegel has had considerable experience with the utilization of Indian and overseas resources. He is a member of the Advisory Committee on Technical Services of the World Council of Churches in Geneva.

The Nez Perce Tribe has a great fish potential. Tribal members have treaty rights for fishing on the Columbia River, a rich source of various salmon species. Located near the Snake and Clearwater Rivers, there is also a supply of mature Steelhead Trout from several state and federal hatcheries. It was felt the availability of this fish could become the basis for a food processing industry. This potential was evaluated, interested tribal members were organized into a preliminary

Warrant Articles In This Issue

Andover voters will consider 75 articles in the warrant for the annual town meeting in March. Last year's warrant contained 63 articles.

Dominguez Commended

A Dartmouth College sophomore from Andover has been cited by a professor of urban studies for outstanding achievement during the past term.

Angel Dominguez was commended by Professor Michael A. Bailin "for his outstanding contribution to the Spanish-speaking community of downtown Jersey City. As a participant in Dartmouth's Jersey City Project, Angel performed tirelessly for a period of six months. He established an adult education center that serviced 70 adults regularly and which functioned mornings and evenings. He taught a Spanish Culture

Student Problems Told To Parents

The high school has brought the problems of increased absenteeism, tardiness and class-cutting, some indiscreet boy-girl behavior in the school, and student drinking problems home to parents.

The high school administration outlined the problem to all parents in a letter last week, and asked them to share responsibility in solving them.

The parental response that the school has received has been a very favorable "thank you" for the informational letter sent out last week.

High School Principal Philip Wormwood said that the high school's problems, except for student smoking, involve only a small minority of students. "But even if it's a small minority, it's a problem when a student's behavior at a dance shows he's been drinking heavily, or when a boy and girl's exhibition of public physical familiarities show no sense of what's appropriate."

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert said he had received so many calls praising and supporting the letter that he is making it available to the TOWNSMAN for publication.

Dear Parent or Guardian:

Andover High School is having some problems that we feel parents/guardians should be familiar with and share in the responsibility of trying to solve. I will list the areas of concern and ask the parents/guardians to work with us so that Andover High School will continue to enjoy its good reputation.

Problem Areas

1. Excessive absenteeism.
2. Excessive tardiness. (The school day is from 7:52 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.)
3. "Cutting" class.
4. Drinking before attending school functions in the evening, and in some cases at these functions.
5. Indiscreet boy-girl behavior in school.

In regard to absenteeism and tardiness, a monthly form letter is sent to the parents/guardians of students who have poor attendance records. You, the parent or guardian, may also call Mrs. Howe (475-8440, between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.) in regard to these records, and she will send you by mail the updated record of your son or daughter.

Concerning "cutting" class, a letter will be sent home stating

Phillips Continues Same Tuition Rates

The Trustees of Phillips Academy expressed confidence in the business management of the school Wednesday by voting to keep the tuition at its present level through the academic year of 1971-72. Tuition is $2,700 for boarders and $1,900 for day students.

The Trustees reviewed the financial picture at a regular meeting over last weekend and found the financial resources to be sound, despite a budgeted operating deficit of about $300,000 for the 1970-71 year on a total expense projection of $5,500,000.

It was decided that, since tuition was increased by $300 in 1970-71 and that the present rate was already published in the current catalogue, a second successive rise could be avoided.

Even with the same income, the academy expects to be able to grant some moderate increases in salary and wages of the faculty and staff.

This will be accomplished, the Trustees said, by the elimination of some nonessential expenditures and expenses, but without involving any reduction in programs offered by the academy "or in its high standards of quality."

For the year 1972-73, the school Administration and Trustees plan to return to a balance of income and expense, even if it means an increase in tuition.

During a period of concentration on good cost management, the Administration will assess the admissions picture at Phillips and other independent schools, to get a better picture of the current flow and quality and financial needs of student applicants and continue to study the subject of possible coeducation in the future. The latter study is being done in cooperation with Abbot Academy.

They Go To School At An Early Age

The school department's pre-kindergarten orientation program is now in its third week, running under the direction of Mrs. Grace Jamison, her staff of 30 trained volunteers and various professionals from the school staff. Over 300 children are enrolled.

Each pre-kindergartener attends one session per week for the ten-week program, held in the education wing of the Christ Church Parish House. The school department is running two sessions a day, five days a week, to accommodate all of next year's Andover kindergarteners whose parents registered them for the program.

Coordinator Mrs. M. Jamison reports that almost all children are now well oriented, few are crying, and everyone is finding something to do and enjoy.

Various specialists from the school are working with the program, and this week Judith Palmer of the music department is giving children a preview of what kinds of things they will do with music next fall, and to stimulate their curiosity and anticipation about school -- one of the prime aims of the program.

An attitude of curiosity and anticipation, instead of fear of the unknown, has a very positive effect on a child's early progress and success in school, Mrs. Jamison explains.

Specialists from the speech department, the reading, guidance and phys ed department are likewise taking their turn at working with each session. The triple purposes are to add to the enjoyment of the session itself, build anticipation for "real school" next fall, and to diagnose early any difficulties they may pick up in speech, coordination, visual perception or because of general immaturity, which could become learning problems.

When difficulties are diagnosed, the school staff shares them with parents, along with advice on how to best help the child be ready for an easy successful start in the formal schooling that begins with kindergarten.

Early detection of potential learning difficulties also helps the school department to be ready with the framework for early correction from the child's first day in kindergarten, instead of finding out about the difficulties later, through the child's repeated experience of the frustration of failure.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

Another great name in the development of early Jazz is Sidney Bechet. At the edge of fifteen he was playing clarinet with the popular "Bunk Johnson Eagle Band."

His creative ability made him one of the best traditional Jazz clarinetists.

However, he later became so taken by the soprano saxophone that he subsequently devoted more and more time to it, so that he rarely played the clarinet.

He was noted for his ability to make the soprano saxophone sound like a female voice and therefore, was later billed as the "talking saxophone."

Bechet made his first recording around 1922 in which Louis Armstrong was also featured. His name was often mentioned in the same breath with the great Louis Armstrong, as great exponents of Jazz music.

After playing with Duke Ellington for a while, he left to join a Black Revue which travelled to Paris, Brussels, Berlin, Turkey, Egypt and Moscow (middle and late twenties).

Sidney Bechet was the only Jazz artist to achieve fame through the soprano saxophone. A colorful style with a heavy vibrato and forceful melodic lines became his trademark.

While in France he later turned to vaudeville and became a very popular entertainer and personality.

Byrne Seeks Election As Selectman

Frank J. Byrne

Finance Committeeman Frank J. Byrne, 37 West Parish Drive, has announced that he will be a candidate for a seat on the board of selectmen.

The candidate, a senior systems engineer with Raytheon Service Company, is a graduate of Holy Cross College and also the holder of a Master's Degree from Boston State College. In 1960, he received a Certificate in Industrial Relations from Merrimack College. In recent years he has taken several post-graduate courses at Boston University, and in the summer of 1968 completed a resident program at the Chrysler Center for Continuing Engineering Education at the Ann Arbor campus of the University of Michigan.

Byrne is an honorably discharged Army veteran of the Korean conflict, having seen overseas service in a Combat Engineers unit in Germany.

Prior to entering private industry, Mr. Byrne was a high school teacher in the Chelmsford school system.

A member of the Andover Finance Committee, since his appointment in 1968, he has long been active in community affairs. Most recently, he served as a subcommittee chairman on the Single Site (Educational Park) Concept Study Committee.

He is a member of the Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) and the Andover Committee for Equal Opportunity. Locally he also holds active membership in the Men of Merrimack, Saint Robert's Guild, the Holy Cross College Alumni of the Merrimack Valley and the West School PTA.

At the national level, he currently belongs to the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE), the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Air Force Association and the Human Factors Society. He is a former associate editor of one of the national publications of the latter organization.

Byrne, a Lawrence native, is married to the former Carolyn Baker of Methuen. They have five children; Maureen, Kathleen, Sheila, Frank, Jr., and Kevin. The candidate cited three reasons why he had decided to seek elective office.

1. His experience on the Finance Committee had provided him with the background required to become an effective board member, and the realization that efficient control of town spending can best be undertaken at the source.

2. The town must reassess and, where required, reorder its priorities in the allocation of community resources. As a member of the board of selectmen, he feels he can exert strong and active leadership, in this regard.

3. Over the next two years, Andover must rely on non-resident representation at the State House. Candidate Byrne believes, "It is essential to the people of Andover, that these lines of communication; between the selectmen and our Lawrence and North Andover members of the General Court; be strengthened and expanded."

Historical Society Open House

The Deacon Amos Flanchard House at 97 Main St. will be open to visitors this coming Sunday from 3 to 5. The house which was built in 1819 is the headquarters of the Andover Historical Society. Many interesting collections of china, pewter, glass, furniture and oil paintings may be seen as well as clocks, dolls and many other items. Of special appeal is the Cheever Memorial room and exhibits. The society is open the first Sunday of each month in addition to the regular weekly hours of 2 to 4 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. There is no charge for admission.

Retired Persons To Meet

The regular meeting of the Greater Lowell Chapter No. 730 of the A.A.R.P. will be held at 2 p.m., Monday, Feb. 8 at the Smith-Baker Center, 400 Merrimack St., Lowell. Loring Kew Elderly Co-ordinator for Model Cities, will speak on what Lowell is planning for the Elderly.

Flowers . . .

... can make an important contribution to the traditional funeral service. Not only do they denote respect for the deceased, but flowers can be sort of a personal messenger of sympathy and understanding to survivors. Their presence tells the immediate family that their friends are thinking of them and sharing their sorrow during their bereavement.

While many customs and fashions have undergone changes over the years, the use of flowers at funerals has endured. Evidence of floral tributes have been found in excavated tombs dating as far back as ancient Egypt.

Valentine Mailing

Postmaster Francis J. Mooney has asked that Valentines for local delivery be mailed by Thursday, Feb. 11, so that all may be assured of their delivery on Valentine's Day.

Valentine cards, whether sealed or unsealed, require a minimum of six cents postage, and should bear the ZIP Code number, not only in the address but also on the return address, as this assists in the delivery of the cards.

Postmaster Mooney points out that the volume of Valentines is second only to that of Christmas cards. Since many of the Valentines are for local delivery, the Postmaster asks that patrons deposit cards in the Local mail drop at the main office and stations, thereby assuring faster handling and delivery.

Outside of the New England States, Valentines should be mailed via air mail, no later than Feb. 9.

Valentines, for New England, other than those for local delivery, should be mailed no later than Feb. 10.

Field Service Group Seeks Families

The Andover Chapter of the American Field Service is currently seeking families who are interested in learning more about being host to a foreign student for a year.

AFS brings over 3,000 students a year, from more than 60 countries, to the United States. It has conducted this program for 21 years. Andover has been hosting students for the past eight years and has sponsored students from Norway, Holland, Paraguay, France, England, Laos, Italy, Panama and Ceylon.

The young student who will be coming from abroad will be between 16 and 18 years of age, ready for the senior year in high school. He will have been chosen because selection committees here and abroad saw in him qualities of adaptability, openmindedness, and eagerness to learn. His personality as well as his intelligence qualify him to make the experience a rewarding one for both himself and for those with whom he comes in contact.

The student who comes to the U.S. under AFS sponsorship will participate in the life of his community and his school. He will learn first-hand not as a visitor, not as a guest, but as a member of a family what life in the U.S. is really like. He will also teach about his own land and his own people.

The purpose of this program is so that the student through involvement in a U.S. family, school and community, may gain an understanding of the U.S., its people, educational system, customs, and ideals, and spread this understanding among his family and friends in future years after he returns home. Also it is hoped that he may bring an understanding of his own country to his American school companions, teachers, family and friends while he is here.

The Andrew Innis family, 17 Canterbury St., is Andover's host family this year. Nimal Lucein Gunewardena from Ceylon is a member of their family and attends Andover High with his American brother, Dan.

Anyone interested in learning more about hosting a student is urged to contact Mrs. William Towle or Mrs. Francis Witt.

Christian Science Lecture

Alister G. Smith

In today's world of violence and tension can freedom be combined with justice?

This is a question to be explored in a public lecture to be given in Andover on Monday, Feb. 8 by Alister G. Smith, C.S.E. of San Francisco.

A native of Portland, Oregon, Mr. Smith is a Christian Science teacher and practitioner.

After graduating from Harvard University, he served as a naval officer during World War II. A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Smith will speak in the West Junior High School Auditorium on Shawshen Road, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Andover, on the subject "A Basis for Justice."

His lecture will begin at 8 p.m. and will last about an hour. The public is invited to attend.

Institute
Has Exhibit Of Paintings

Two paintings of Andover interest are being shown in Salem at the Essex Institute during February and March as part of the exhibition of "Artistic Discoveries from Essex County, 1865-1910."

One, a small landscape, loaned by the Andover Historical Society, was painted by Jesse Louis Bridgeman, a Salem painter. The other, which usually hangs in the Ballardvale library is a panoramic view of Ballardvale and was done by Bancroft T. Haynes, a local artist.

The exhibit is open to the public without charge Tuesday-Saturday, 9 to 4 and Sunday 2 to 5.

New Zealand was discovered by Abel Tasman, Dec. 13, 1642.

The Letter

Disclosure of conditions at Andover High school in a letter sent to all parents is a bit shocking, but handled in what we think is a proper manner.

The letter pointed to excessive absenteeism, excessive tardiness, cutting classes, drinking before and at school evening functions and indiscreet boy-girl behavior.

The information was sent to all parents and signed by Assistant Principal Charles Q. Adams.

The letter is a bit shocking since it indicates some failure of parental responsibility.

Too often these days the schools are asked to take on the burdens which rightfully belong in the home.

The first three items in the letter are serious ones since absenteeism, tardiness and cutting classes most certainly will have a bearing on the child's future regardless of what he chooses. Schools, employers, service personnel will not look kindly upon poor attendance records.

The drinking matter is cause for real concern.

It has been reported that youngsters show up at athletic contests with alcoholic beverages, as well as at dances and other functions.

As is the case with the drug problem, the question is the source of the liquor.

How many parents know their children are drinking, we wonder.

The problem is apparently getting worse here in Andover.

Of course the two martinis before dinner by parents along with the well-stocked liquor cabinet doesn't lend to very good guidance.

The indiscreet boy-girl behavior is also alarming.

Apparently things are taking place more openly rather than reserved for privacy, as has been the custom.

We are glad that these things have been brought out into the open.

We are hopeful that having aired the problems, proper attention will be taken to remedy the situation, in the school, and more importantly, in the home.

Good Move

The school department has completed what appears to be a good move.

Additional space was needed immediately at the Doherty school.

The administrators moved their quarters to the Stowe school and have allowed for expansion at Doherty.

The superintendent, assistant and supervisor of general services now operate out of Stowe and the bulging enrollment at Doherty has been provided with relief.

The move was accomplished at a minimum of expense.

Normally moves of this type are completed at considerable cost, with the possibility of creating new buildings.

The move also provides time for the school and town authorities to study their future office needs.

As has been mentioned previously, the East junior high school is being considered as a town-school administration building. It is possible the school will be phased out within five years.

This stop gap measure will provide the means for proper evaluation on all avenues.

The time captured here will hopefully be a saving one, since the final decision could ultimately be less expensive.

Voting Extension Sought

"It is utterly hypocritical that while we speak of increased voter participation and the critical role of the citizenry in state government, we continue to deny absentee voters the right to cast their ballots in primary elections," Rep. William G. Arvanitis testified at yesterday's hearing of the committee on Election Laws. The first term Representative spoke in favor of his bill which proposes that the laws applicable to absentee voting in general elections be extended to primaries.

In citing a report by the Legislative Research Council, Rep. Arvanitis said, "Massachusetts, which permits absentee voting in general elections only, appears less liberal than the 43 states in the country which also authorize such voting in primary elections." He further emphasized that "a person should not be denied the right to vote simply because he has a physical handicap, or is overseas fighting for our country and therefore cannot be present at the polls on election day."

The bill to allow absentee voting in primary elections follows guidelines established by the Federal Voting Assistance Act, which recommends that the states extend absentee ballot privileges to primary elections. In urging adoption of his bill, Rep. Arvanitis commented, "This proposal will meet the Federal government's criteria and will eliminate Massachusetts from the small minority of states which do not yet provide absentee ballots during primary elections."

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

After reading the various articles in the newspaper concerning the coming yearly budget of Andover, I feel compelled to write and hope that perhaps others might also share their feelings. It has been noted that the teachers are due another raise which seems to be a yearly automatic reality. Maybe there are many citizens of Andover who do not realize that many of their neighbors, indeed perhaps ones of their own household, who have in the past year been laid off from many well-paying jobs, and who like thousands of others, are finding it difficult to make any sort of living at the present. Also there are many whose wages are at a frozen state, and have been for quite some time with no hope of a raise under present economic conditions.

Since our teachers should be considered among the most intelligent of our citizens, they can see that a raise at this time for them, may mean the feeling of bankruptcy for many others, who see no end to higher taxes in this town, and struggle with the terrible decision of moving elsewhere. We know we have good teachers, and parents are thankful for them, but there is a limit to everything, and now it is the time to cut back, not raise taxes. The situation actually begins to look desperate in the eyes of so many, especially the long-time citizens.

Won't the officers of the town, the manager, the selectmen, and the school committee, take the stand against further taxes at this time, except for the most necessary items, and eliminate anything that possibly can wait. And I would also plea with the officers of the teachers group, and all the teachers to take a long look at a raise which will strain others to a near breaking point. The superintendent of schools has made note of trying to cut down his part of the budget, let us hope he can do more, and the other officials do likewise.

We have got to stop sometime, let's make it now!

Mrs. Ray Peters

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Political Power has its charms and school committees are receptive; or so the record implies respecting Andover's school committee's seeking more political advantage.

As it is elsewhere, Andover's town meeting must abide the school committee's demands for money however large. This is an arrangement that remains from a day when education was not, to all, acceptable on its merits. Hence it was thought honorable, in this instance, to sacrifice an aspect of Democracy as well as of wisdom in deference to an aspiration; that the virtues of education would justify an otherwise unreliable means.

But alas and predicably, the thought has proven to be forlorn.

After years of trial it would seem that school committees, in the name of democracy, would be preparing to relinquish their extreme financial power it being both unwise to persist in a method incompatible with prevailing civic concepts and, by now, sufficient test has been given to the method to reveal that even so exalted a thing as public education cannot surmount the blemish of a crass method. And what is the record of Andover's school committee in this instance?

The committee seeks to further strengthen its privilege by removing the Finance Committee's balancing power at special town meetings.

Whatever else this may reveal, it at least indicates that the school committee's exceptional political power fuels and fires a belief that more privilege is their just due.

However, at the coming town meeting it is hoped that cooler heads shall prevail and that the school committee will be induced to arise to the occasion by announcing that it shall support all bills before the General Court for the removal of this extreme power of school committees.

Should it take that position, then town meeting ought to be encouraged to go on record to remove the Finance Committee's special town meeting powers when and if the bills become law. A resolution from the floor could be the means for the acceptance of this intent.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Hopefully, by the time this letter is received, all of Andover will be as delighted as our family is with the very recent changes in Memorial Hall Library.

The physical changes -- how about that fireplace! -- have made the main floor a more homey and welcoming place. It is really a pleasure to go there.

This is just my way of saying thank you to the library staff.

James P. Hurrell of North Andover appeared before the Committee on Judiciary to speak in favor of his Petition, House Bill 764, which calls for a legislative amendment to the Constitution providing for a reduction of the size of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from 240 to 160 members. Hurrell's petition also provides for a decennial division of the Commonwealth and to Representatives and Senatorial districts.

Hurrell urged the members of the Joint Commission on Judiciary to give a favorable report to his legislation. He pointed out that he was disappointed last year when the Massachusetts Legislature refused to give the people the right to express their opinion on the controversial issue of reducing the size of the House in this regard.

Hurrell explained to the Committee that he circulated a Petition in his district under Chapter 53 of the General Laws. His Petition was approved by the Attorney General and the Secretary of State. Consequently on Nov. 3 the voters of his district indicated they favored cutting the size of the House from 240 to 160 members.

"It is now up to the Massachusetts Legislature to reverse its decision and give the people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts the right to express their opinion through referendum. It is my hope that the Committee on a non-partisan basis gives this important legislation a favorable report," Hurrell said.

Workshops At Church

"Jesus Christ, Superstar" - a warm, sensitive expression of faith? Or religious blasphemy?

A two-part workshop will take a penetrating look at the newest rock opera - the one which has stirred such controversy and depth of feeling since its release in this country last year.

Mrs. Jan Scheerer will lead the workshop - to be held on Feb. 7 and 14 (Sunday evenings) starting at 6:45.

Persons of all ages - from junior high up - are invited to attend the sessions.

The first workshop will be devoted primarily to hearing the recording. Lyrics will be provided. The group will then examine the "opera", hoping collectively to reach a better understanding of the music and its meaning.

The workshops are being run by the Adult Education Committee of the Church. Robert Hanby and David Young are co-chairmen.

At the end of the orientation program children will have the opportunity to visit their own district school, and spend some time in the kindergarten room they will enter next fall.

He instituted a photography class for several youngsters which met regularly after school hours. He worked at all times with a purpose and a maturity that is commended. His efforts have gone a long way toward enhancing the strengths and capabilities of a fledgling social action program which seeks to match the resources of a university with the needs of a struggling inner-city community in Jersey City, New Jersey."

In a letter from Carroll W. Brewster, Dean of the College, Mr. Dominguez was informed that faculty citations are sparingly given, and that they become a part of each man's personal record at Dartmouth.

Mr. Dominguez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kile of 17 Rolling Ridge Road. He was graduated from Andover High School in 1969 as an ABC student. At Dartmouth his activities have included photography work for the student newspaper and the Dartmouth Museum, and the Afro-American Society.

AIDS TO SELLING

What are some aids to selling your house? Your Realtor can be a great help at selling time. He will both list and advertise your home. Prospective buyers receive on-the-spot tours.

You will find that setting a realistic price on your house will save time and money. For this reason, you may ask a Realtor to provide a market value appraisal. He may also point out possible needed repairs.

A house should look its best at selling time. Trim appearance of the residence and landscaping is important. The house should be clean and neat throughout. Minor repainting and repairs can make a favorable impression to a buyer.

It is usually good practice to be out of the house when it is shown. Your Realtor can arrange to inform you when prospective buyers are coming.

Do you have special real estate problems? Why not let us solve them! JAMES T. TREFREY, REALTOR is proud to offer you a complete real estate service. A qualified staff member is always on hand to serve you when you deal with us . . . and we've got over 30 years of experience! See us soon: JAMES T. TREFREY, REALTOR, 5 Lowell St., phone 475-0622. ZPG Formed In Andover

The Greater Lawrence chapter of Zero Population Growth was officially born last Monday night, and will be holding a general meeting next Monday, Feb. 8, with the president of Massachusetts Zero Population Growth as its speaker.

All persons in the community who are concerned about the population have been invited to hear Richard Cramer speak, view the filming of a short movie on the population explosion, and attend the first business meeting of Greater Lawrence ZPG.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting in the auditorium of Evans Hall, Phillips Academy, will also include the election of permanent officers and reports from four study committees.

At the initial meeting at Christ Church, Brooks Marsden, 9 Lockway Road, was elected temporary president, with Thomas Hamilton, 33 Phillips St., as treasurer, and the purpose of the chapter was agreed upon, as follows:

To encourage people in the Greater Lawrence area to join National Zero Population Growth, through the local organization; to raise money to support the national legislative programs; to organize a population control education program in the area.

The four study committees formed at last week's meeting have the following heads: Membership and fund raising Mrs. Charles L. Gilliat, 4 Tobey Lane; Political action Lincoln Smith, Phillips Academy; Education and speakers Mrs. Elizabeth Sweet and Miss Beverly Shattuck, Andover; Publicity and newsletter Jameson French, 111 Highland Road and Thomas Cone, off Main St.

Persons unable to attend the meeting Monday may receive information and indicate interest in membership by contacting any of the above persons.

Scheerer Re-elected

William Scheerer of Haven Drive was re-elected president of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Andover at its recent annual meeting.

During its business session, the Church "on the hill" on Lowell St. changed its fiscal year to coincide more nearly with the church operating year. Thus, for the first time, there will be two annual meetings in 1971. The second, following adoption of new bylaws, occurs in April, when officers will be elected for a 12-month period ending April 30, 1972.

Other officers elected include: Mrs. Barbara Johnson of Tewksbury St., Clerk; John Allen of Greenwood Rd., treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Young of Bellevue Rd., collector.

Directors-heads of Departments elected include: Membership, Mrs. Shirley Arrand of Jenkins Rd.; Denominational Affairs, Edwin Craven of Hampshire St., Methuen; Property, Mrs. Charlotte Martin of Main St.; Social Action, Richard Wilson of High St.; Public Relations, David Young of Bellevue Rd., and Director-at-Large, John Maxwell of Cutler Rd.

During the meeting, the Rev. Richard M. Woodman reported to the congregation on the preceding church year, and reports from all Departments were presented for approval.

Appointed as Deacons for the year were Mrs. Irene Need, Edwin Craven, Louis Lander Jr., Richard Lion, Charlotte Martin and Mrs. Louise Russo.

The things we learn from experience come under the heading of compulsory education.

the subject "cut" and indicating that the quarterly and final grades of the student can and will be seriously affected by this lack of responsibility on the part of the student. Please inform your children that when transcripts are sent to employers, advanced schools, and special schools in the armed forces, not only the academic but also the total attendance record is transcribed.

Drinking before or during an evening event is becoming a very serious problem, and we feel that some parents/guardians are not aware that their children are drinking. This should be evident when they return after attending an evening event. Teachers and administrators are limited in their control of this situation as most of the drinking is not done on school property or in the school area, and we feel and hope that parents should be vigilant and involved in an attempt to control and guide their children in this very dangerous habit.

Although today is the age to "do your thing," I believe that there is a "proper place for everything, and everything in its proper place." Physical affection displayed while in school is not in "good taste." Parents should advise their daughters in this matter and should advise their sons to respect the reputation of the girls with whom they associate. Any physical familiarities should not be demonstrated publicly in school or at a school evening event.

Lastly, I think that parents owe it to their children to talk over these matters with them and to check at times with the school, as part of your parental responsibility, to see if your children are accepting their privileges with responsibility.

Your support in all these areas will be appreciated, and in turn we will try to keep you informed as to your student's status. Let us work together for a common purpose -- your child and our student.

POPULAR PLACE for night study by students in Memorial Hall Library. Several groups sit around tables as they ponder problems.

Principals' Group Issues Statement

The executive board of the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association has taken cognizance of the Roger A. Mailloux vs. the School Committee of the City of Lawrence case, and deplored the U. S. District Court's decision reversing Mailloux's dismissal and returning him to the classroom.

The board issued a statement warning of a weakening of dignity, decorum and educational reasoning in school classrooms as the potential result of the recent court decision favoring the Lawrence High School teacher who wrote a four-letter word on a blackboard in view of his students, and asked a student or students for its meaning.

In the view of the MSSPA board, the teacher was making use of a captive audience, to bring up a word "generally considered by intelligent and decent thinking citizens as most unsuitable for school classroom at any grade or level," and thus was liable to dismissal for conduct unbecoming a teacher.

"It would appear," the statement continues, "that the limited time our children spend in school should be used for the discussion of more important problems and issues than the definition of 'taboo' words and terms. The taxpayers of our towns and cities faced with the tremendous expenses for our public schools, and our public officers not knowing how the money can be provided, have a right to feel strongly that students' time and teachers' planning may well be spent in much more productive ways."

"Students, parents, school officials, administrators and taxpayers have good reason to be upset with the recent decision of the Court. They all hope that the problem will be resolved so that the school may pursue the task of providing a decent, dignified and worthwhile education for the children of our communities, state and nation."

The seventh annual meeting of the Andover School and Municipal Employees Federal Credit Union will be held at Briarcliff on Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 8 p.m.

Club To Meet

The Spade and Trowel Garden Club of Andover will meet Tuesday, Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Herbert Anderson, 140 High Plain Road.

Co-hostesses are Mrs. Wallace Turgiss and Mrs. Paul Mufson. The program will be a spring workshop.
